

CHIANTI & MORE

PANZANO IN CHIANTI (Province of Florence) REF. 109

This villa is a work of art in its own right. The realisation of this jewel was only possible through the perfect interplay between the subtle architectural design of the individual buildings and the conservation area planning process.

The architect, moreover, succeeded in carrying out state-of-the-art renovations which, at the same time, enhance the property's sustainability: ventilation technology, underfloor heating, 5 cm-thick adobe plaster, energy-saving windows and doors and air-conditioning ensure a pleasant, healthy interior climate all year long.

The estate comprises several buildings:

- Heritage villa
- Tower villa
- San Pietro Martyr Chapel
- Wellness house
- Bath house

Due to hill-top location of the property with 340m altitude there are stunning 360 degree views just across the surrounding vineyards, olive groves, on the Monte San Michele, the highest mountain of the Chianti (893m), and in distance the Apennine mountains (1,000m)

The grounds cover an area of some 5 hectares. The country estate is surrounded by beautiful olive groves, vineyards and holm oak forests offering a multitude of walking paths.

The cypress-lined driveway leading to the estate is like something you would find in a picture book. Car access and parking spaces are situated unobtrusively in the olive grove so that the entire estate between the chapel and the main buildings remains a pristine haven.

Each building leads out into its own garden area. Furnished like lounges, the terraces and gazebos offer idyllic spots in which to rest and relax.

The kitchen house offers every modern convenience for celebrations or elegant dining on the terrace. Boasting a diameter of 2 metres, the centuries-old wood-fired oven used to provide for the whole village. The smokers' lounge is also situated here.

Beneath the terrace and enjoying a breathtaking view is the 12-metre pool complete with cabanas, daybeds and a lounge on the wide wooden sundeck.

The San Pietro Martyr Chapel was built in 1580 by Ludovico da Verrazzano. The paintings and the altar are currently under restoration. The chapel has space for 15 people for wedding ceremonies. On leaving the chapel, the view of the setting sun is simply stunning, while its forecourt offers an idyllic spot for meditation.

Suites

Boasting picture-book views from every window, all the suites are spaciouly laid out (most comprise two rooms), furnished with 5-star box spring beds (king size, 180 cm wide with a mattress depth of 40 cm and luxurious toppers), partially an open fireplace, individually designed with designer fabrics from Tricia Guild and Kenzo and antique Persian rugs from the owner-family's own valuable collection.

The suites all have exposed natural stone walls and Serena stone edging, temperature and humidity regulating adobe-clad walls and glossy, silky-smooth stucco lustro, centuries-old cotto floors or parquet flooring made from old wine barrels, individually adjustable air conditioning, flat screen LED televisions and Broadband Internet access.

All the suites have luxurious bathrooms (some integrated into the room) finished in hand-selected marble and appointed with XL showers with chromotherapy rain shower heads, handmade marble shower bases, freestanding washbasins set on custom-made marble tables and partially freestanding designer cast stone bathtubs. Each with a window boasting breathtaking views, the bathrooms offer the perfect place to linger and relax.

Villa The living space includes a dining room/lounge/bar, the smokers' lounge and the wine cellar for tastings.

The interior furnishings in the living areas exude a subtle, eclectic flair that radiates a historic feel. Elegant and classical, the interiors are designed in shades of beige and grey that accentuate the charm of the historic buildings. Lavishly-sized armchairs from various eras offer luxuriant comfort for relaxing or catching up with the rest of the world.

A long-standing local carpenter from Panzano handcrafted the parquet flooring out of old wine barrels, the red wine stains and the aroma of which have remained preserved until today. An oversized bar counter was created out of a 10 metre-long roof beam of precious holm oak (which could no longer fulfil its original function as a result of the current earthquake protection regulations).

Further characteristic features of the buildings include walls, at least one in every room, that have been elaborately restored back to their natural stone state, with several of the structures dating back 1,000 years, and old Serena stone door frames and sills, some of which were renovated and others replaced by new hand-crafted ones.

Wellness House

Accommodated in what was formerly an ancient barn, the design of the wellness house was an elaborate architectural undertaking. The spectacular private room offers optimum comfort for guests who need to relax and unwind.

With a design that combines antique elements with exquisite new marble, the area includes a double whirlpool, a massage/colour therapy shower, an open fireplace, a relaxation gallery and a panoramic window offering a view of the Castle of Panzano. The long-standing smith from the town of Greve was able to restore the old, damaged iron spiral staircase and make it functional again for accessing the gallery.

Bath House

The Bath House too was given a building all to itself – namely the former sty.
Here the owner fulfilled her personal dream of integrating the bath house into the surroundings to the extent that you feel as though you are actually lying in the vineyard.
Detox in its purest form – here the ancient tradition of the hammam comes to life with the ceremony of washings and exfoliations.

A panoramic terrace complete with spectacular views, an open-air shower made of old, natural stone, a screened-off outdoor area and a jacuzzi with space for 5 round off the hammam experience.

The linen we change Saturday and Tuesday (or Wednesday). The towels - if the guest prefers - every day.

They can also bring or buy their own wine.

In the bar we provide a selection of bottles, which they can use in an "honesty principle". If you have special wishes for your cocktails we will fill up the bar for you. Here we only charge the retail prices as well.

6. Spa

We are working together with a Shiatsu therapist (fluent english speaking) or traditional masage – 60 minutes rate is € 100.

The owner informs:

“The best architect was, in any case, the house, or rather the ruin, itself – we really didn’t want to change all that much because there’s a reason for everything having been built the way it was. Our task, rather, was to find out how everything had looked originally and find a way of incorporating high technical standards, in keeping with environmentally sustainable criteria, without compromising the historic appearance. For example, we now have ventilated underflooring, underfloor heating where possible, windows that comply with the very latest energy standards, large rainwater cisterns and even biological sewage filtration.”
